Conclusion

The analysis was conducted by reviewing all standard Use of Force reports which were submitted during the year 2016. Evansville Police Department procedures require that in all instances where physical force is utilized, a report is made. In each case a supervisor reviewed the use of force following the incident. Although there are similarities, there is no evident pattern that would indicate a flaw in training or procedural rules of using force. The results do not indicate any patterns of unusual amounts of force being used by any one shift or sector. Considering there were over 171,000 calls for service requiring police interaction that resulted in 5,962 arrests, over 14,000 citations, and only 372 of those arrests necessitated the use of force to be used; this demonstrates that officers are using restraint and performing their duties in a professional manner.

Summary

EPD's officers received training in Emergency Vehicle Operations in 2016. All pursuits during 2016 have been reviewed by a supervisor and they were determined to have been within the guidelines established by the Evansville Police Department except for three.

Internal Affairs Complaints

Informal Complaints:

The Internal Affairs Unit processed twenty-two informal complaints in 2016. The complaints involved a total of twenty-two counts. Five of the twenty-two complaints had at least one count sustained. Four complaints were ruled as non-sustained. Six were ruled as unfounded and seven were ruled as exonerated.

Formal Complaints:

Internal Affairs investigated three formal complaints during 2016. One formal complaint was sustained. One complaint was exonerated and one complaint was unfounded.

Complaint Inquiries:

Another fifty-seven informal complaints were reported, but were handled directly by the Internal Affairs supervisor as the complaints were more of an inquiry by nature. These included complaints about traffic citations and complaints about arrests.

The use of the body cameras were instrumental in disproving or sustaining a number of the complaints and probably played a large role in reducing the overall number of complaints.
